

Situation In Mingo Field Is Acute

Federal Troops Gather At Camp Sherman Ready For Mingo Call

Army Officers, Sent By Plane From Washington, Report Outlook Discouraging. Troops Being Held Ready For Instant Dispatch. Citizens Armed To Defend Homes Against Miners.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The situation in the Mingo mine field is "acute" according to reports made by army officers to the War Department today at noon. An army airplane is now in Charleston to watch the movements of the "miners' army" reported marching on the Mingo and Logan coal fields, Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright announced today. More planes will be sent if necessary, he said. Late reports indicate an armed clash may come at any hour.

Troops are being held in readiness at Camp Sherman, it was announced. General Bandholz, who is investigating, reported that while the situation is "acute" it has not yet developed to a point where Federal troops are required. Concentrating At Camp Sherman.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Federal troops stationed at the Barracks here entrained early today for Camp Sherman, enroute to the West Virginia coal district where armed miners are marching in protest of martial law.

The detachment included 300 officers and men of the regular training companies of the 10th Infantry. They marched thru the streets of Columbus to the depot. The regulars will be joined at Camp Sherman by 565 officers and men of the 19th Infantry it was understood here.

Trains Leaving District Crowded.

Hundreds of autos were offered to aid in reconnoitering. Trains were crowded with women and children hurrying to get out of the district, fearing violence and sabotage. It is understood the miners propose to strike at non-union fields in this county as well as Mingo.

Reports here that fighting took place during the night were denied today. Deputies posted at lookouts were said to have been fired on and after returning the fire engaged in a hot battle. The miners' force was reported to number 6,000.

Mingo County Prepared.

Williamson, Aug. 26.—Mingo county is preparing for war today. Intensified by the suspense of waiting for the advance of the "5,000," the entire county was steeped in silence. Utmost secrecy surrounded all preparations for resisting the army reported heading for this county in protest against labor condition and martial law.

Sheriff Pinson admitted he had been in communication with Sheriff Chafin of Logan county but declined to say whether he will go to his aid or not. State police are prepared to resist the army if any disturbance is caused. A thousand men, officials intimated, can be mobilized for instant action if the occasion arises.

Last Stand To Avert Civil War.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 26.—A last desperate stand to avert civil war in West Virginia was taken here today after a conference between Gov. Morgan, Brig. Gen. Bandholz, who arrived here from Washington by airplane, Pres. C. F. Kenney, of District No. 17, United Mine Workers of America. It was agreed to use every effort possible to persuade the miners marching into Mingo to disburse.

Kenney left Charleston this morning for Madison accompanied by Fred Mooney, secretary of the union where they expect to overtake the "army" and warn them that federal

ITALIAN BAND GIVES CONCERT LAST EVENING

The concert given by the Clearfield Italian Band at the Court House corner last evening, was listened to by an audience which crowded the big public square from opening note to the close of the excellent program rendered.

The band was composed of twenty-one men under the direction of Prof. Ligi D'Michael and all are deserving and have been working hard to entertainment furnished free of charge.

The Clearfield Italian Band is composed of musicians of that nationality, many of whom are young Americans. They are self-supporting and have been working hard to develop a good band. How well they are succeeding under the very capable direction of Prof. D'Michael, who has worked wonders during the time he has had charge of this band was shown by last night's concert.

The people of Clearfield appreciate the efforts of the citizens of Italian nationality to give us a band and all who heard last night's concert appreciate the music they made.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY FAIR PROMISES TO BE BIGGER--BETTER

Fair Management Making Many Improvements At Fair Grounds. Stock Mileage Almost Doubled. Many Entries Expected

The big Clearfield County Fair will be held Sept. 27th to 30th—rain or shine—and it won't rain this year for everyone is making preparations for the biggest and best Fair ever held in Central Pennsylvania.

The citizens of Clearfield county have made the Fair what it is, and with the loyal co-operation of the entire county and especially of the farmers this will be the greatest fair we ever held.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. HOLDS UP ROAD REPAIR

Stretch Of Road Between Borough Limits And Concrete Bridge Must Wait For Authorization From Harrisburg.

The State Highway Department may truly be said to work in most mysterious ways its wonders to perform, and we must say those ways are past finding out. Those of us who have to travel to and from the Phillipsburg and Tyrone country have been waiting patiently for many months for the completion of the permanent road building between Woodland and Blue Ball. The work of improving this road has been progressing very satisfactorily and, according to all the dope now, the Department expects to be able to open the road for traffic on or about September 10th. So much for that.

Now for the fly in our ointment. It is also the purpose of the Highway Department, so their local representatives say, to relay or repave the brick road from the borough line to the New York Central tracks near the concrete bridge over Clearfield creek and Lord knows—to say nothing of the poor devils who have been traveling that road—it certainly needs relaying. They have even gone so far as to tear up a section several hundred yards in length starting at the Borough line, and there she lays.

A formal inquest over the body of Lt. C. C. Little, U. S. N., of Newberry, Mass., who perished with the 42 others when the airship exploded and sank in the Humber river, was opened here today.

By that time the State road from Zigler to Blue Ball will have been finally opened to traffic and thus about the time travelers are ready to take advantage of this really fine piece of road and along comes the order or authorization to complete the improvement from the Clearfield borough line to the creek this end of the road is closed to traffic and another of those death-defying, salvation-deceiving detours around by Shawville or Litz bridge to Woodland is inflicted upon a long suffering public.

How long! O, Lord! how long! are we to be denied the privilege of a decent road thru this section toward Tyrone. Why can't the Highway Department get a move on—just once—and open the road clear through on September 10th.

Everything is in better shape for a Fair than ever before. New drinking fountains have been put in—fire protection has been installed—and nearly 500 feet of new up-to-date horse and cattle buildings are being put up. The races and attractions are bigger and better than ever—and no gambling will be permitted.

Now the management is depending on the co-operation of the farmers to make the Agricultural Exhibit the best ever shown—and we have assurances that they will not fail.

Fruit is scarce this season all over the United States but Clearfield county with its protected hillside and valleys has more fruit than anywhere else in the country.

Everyone is going to bring an exhibit of fruit and vegetables—you will all be astounded at the abundance. All exhibitors are privileged to sell their exhibits after three o'clock on Friday. Whatever is left after noon on Saturday, unclaimed, will be taken to the Children's Home.

The premium for fruit, grain and vegetables are liberal and with the privilege of selling the exhibits it is

PROGRESS BALLOONS CAUGHT—MANY GET SUBSCRIPTIONS

Residents Over Toward Mt. Joy And Goshen Region, Where They Finally Landed And Were Caught, Got The Tags.

The balloons sent up by The Progress from the park on Saturday afternoon last were handicapped by the rain and did not get as far away as was to be expected. There was a strong southwest wind blowing at the time, which carried the gas bags down the river and across into Mt. Joy and Goshen.

The first balloon reported was found by James O. Leonard of Girard township near Shawville. He returned it to The Progress and will get this paper regularly for one year.

Bright and early this morning Cosner Stull of the Third Ward and Harvey Wilson, who lives on the Mt. Joy road, just beyond Moose Creek, dropped into the office each armed with a four dollar Dollar Day tag. These tags were also recovered in the Lick Run country.

A little late in the morning James Mead, of Philadelphia, dropped in with one of the cards which entitled him to The Progress free the coming year. This balloon and card was picked up by his brother, Butler I. Mead, on the old Mead homestead farm at the top of Lick Run hill.

David Whaling brought in another tag after dinner today. It was picked up in the lumber yard of the Witmer-Steele Company, near the foot of Duckett's hill. Dave will read The Progress for the next twelve months.

EUROPE'S GOLD RESERVES

While Europe sent to the United States more than two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold during the first six months of the current year above receipts from this country, nevertheless a slight gain occurred in that period in the total gold reserves of Europe held by central banks or government agents.

Only one of the fourteen chief European gold holding countries showed a diminution in their gold stocks from January 1 to July 1, and these losses were relatively slight, their combined total amounting to less than twelve million dollars. This loss was more than offset by gains among the other thirteen countries, the net increase of the fourteen combined amounting to $1,100,000,000.

Yet between January 1 and July 1, the gold stock held by the Federal reserve banks in the United States increased by $402,601,000, or nearly 20 per cent. of the $2,059,330,000 they held the first of the year, almost two-thirds of the increase being made up by the gold from European shipping points, the rest coming from non-European and domestic sources.

An analysis of this gold movement shows that present European gold reserves are not being drained to swell America's holdings, but that the increments to this country's hoard since the first of the year, in so far as shipment from European points are concerned, are chiefly accounted for by three great streams of the metal consisting of newly mined supplies from Africa coming by way of London; of gold yielded up by India, also coming by way of London; and of metal thought to have originated from Russian sources, eventually coming to America through various European countries.

Europe's centralized reserves were built up subsequent to the outbreak of the Great War far above previous figures, and were further increased since the Armistice, by concentrating in them as far as possible all gold held privately held. While these reserves have been, by continued government impoundage kept rigidly stabilized at the points attained as a result of centralized gold stocks.

those extraordinary war and postwar measures, in the face of the recent tremendous suction toward America, nevertheless the three great streams have flowed through these countries to the United States with little impediment during the last six months. No material effort has been made in Europe to divert the gold from them for the purpose of building up further the reserves there. The gold has served to reduce European indebtedness in America rather than to aid in restoring the gold standard in Europe.

It was stated in the Federal Reserve Bulletin for June, 1921, that the Director of the Swedish Mint had recently estimated that seventy tons of Russian gold were received in Sweden since 1920. He was quoted as saying that after refining it was re-exported, chiefly to the United States, representing an assayed value here of about $40,000,000. The bulletin also said that not less than another $60,000,000 of Russian gold or its equivalent had found its way to the United States through France and other channels.

The movement of gold from Russia to the United States is not definitely traceable. It is thought to have come to this country indirectly through various continental countries in addition to those mentioned above. At the outbreak of the war in 1914 the Russian State Bank held $779,750,000 in gold; by the end of 1917, the date of the last definite statement of gold held in the bank, the stock had dwindled to $632,000,000. It has been reported that this balance has since been largely dispersed and the amount remaining is unknown, but is thought to be small.

It appears therefore that the United States received, between January 1 and July 10, the equivalent of $106,599,000 of African and Indian gold by way of London and the equivalent of more than $100,000,000 of Russian gold by way of Continental Europe. These three chief sources account for the fact that Europe as a whole has been able to make substantial gold payments to the United States without further impairing her existing gold stocks.

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Sheriff Don Chaffin issued final instructions to his deputies in preparation for the battle with the "miners' army" expected before dark. Logan, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Civilians lay in wait in a mountain pass near here, today for the "invading" army of miners marching toward Mingo county in protest against martial law. Advances here were the marchers had reached Blair, near the Boone county line during the night and intended to push across today. Don Chaffin, sheriff in charge of the "defenders," declared there would be a battle "the minute we are attacked by forces entering to county." Protection of homes and property will be the only occasion for open hostility, he said.

"By Skloney"

BLUE WILL BE THE DAY

Dr. Wilbur Fisk Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, thinks the world is going to Hades at a gallop unless the reformers get together and fight as one man to stem the downward tide.

Dr. Crafts has been investigating the Dempsey-Carpenter fight and is now "spending a week at the doors of Congress promoting moral measures relating to prohibition enforcement, divorce, gambling and a Congressional investigation of the moving picture interest as a trust."

"Reformers," said he "can no longer fight one moral foe at a time, as we used to do, and would still like to do—prohibitionists, fighting, bootleggers, amateur boxers against professional sluggers, advocates of Federal picture regulation pressing that issue alone—not even resisting the commercializing of the weekly rest day with pictures confessedly unfit for any day. As all the commercialized evils, including commercialized politics, have recently joined forces from Boston to Los Angeles in anti-blue leagues and anti-prohibition leagues, all who would defend any of our American ideals against these mostly foreign hordes must fight them all."

WOMEN WILL PRINT

NEWSPAPER

The women of Pennsylvania are soon to have their own newspaper, eight columns wide and eight pages thick. Announcement was made from the headquarters of the Women's Republican Club that the first issue of The Woman's Press will appear on September 7.

The paper, which will be a weekly will not be a political organ; but, according to Mrs. Archibald Harmon, president of the Women's Republican Club, will aim to print general news in unbiased fashion. Mrs. Harmon has been chosen associate editor. The paper will be published in Harrisburg by the Women's Publishing Company.

WEATHER MAKERS AT IT

Pennsylvania weather sharks are now engaged in the pleasant and harmless task of picking out our winters for us. All agree that we are in for a hard winter—perhaps. One old fellow from down at Pottsville goes into details and "This winter will be the record-breaker since 1900," he says. "There will be twenty eight heavy snows, the first on Nov. 9 and there will be sleighing for Thanksgiving day. It will continue warm until about Oct. 15, however."

HOW PEOPLE DO CHANGE

"We cannot make peace except in company with our allies," said Senator Lodge in the summer of 1918. "It would brand us with everlasting dishonor and bring ruin to us also if we undertook to make a separate peace."

The separate peace treaty between the United States and Germany was signed by representatives of both nations on Thursday.

GUESS HE MUST BE RIGHT

Over-eating, insufficient sleeping and lack of exercise were characterized by Dr. Jonathan Rigdon of the Central Normal College, Danville, Ind., as the three chief vices of American school teachers. Speaking at the third day's session of the Allegheny County Teachers' Institute in Soldiers' Memorial Hall, he advised his hearers to avoid them if they wished to be long-lived and efficient workers.

PRACTICE OF ECONOMY

"MR. SQUILL, the druggist, is selling some wonderful liquid porcelain, and I think we ought to have a bottle," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "There are a dozen things about the house which would be greatly improved if enamelled. The bathtub, for instance, is a disgrace, as most of the white coating has disappeared."

"People who don't like our bathtub don't need to wash themselves in it," replied Jamesworthy. "It's a good enough bathtub for any reasonable person. Of course, you want to put a coat of your liquid porcelain on it, as a measure of economy, but, like all your retrenchment schemes, it will be a fizzle. The porcelain would never dry, and the first time I took a bath I'd get my person covered with it and would have to go to the taxidermist for relief."

"Last summer you had another great scheme for saving our hard-earned doubloons. You painted the lawn swing and never said a word to me about it. After dark, I took a seat in the swing, to rest my weary bones, and when I wanted to leave it, I found I couldn't. I stuck to that swing like a two-cent stamp to a dunning letter. The neighbors had to come over and pry me loose with spades and things before I could get away. My retirement was ruined, and it was a suit I had worn only three seasons. You explained to me afterward that you thought you'd be saving money by painting the swing yourself. Your passionate fondness for the kind of economy that involves spending money has brought these gray hairs to my sideboards and made me old before my time."

"There's only one reliable way to save money, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Salt it down. Put it in a tin can and solder the lid down tight. If you go to the druggists and grocers and hardware men, and ask them how to economize, they'll try to sell you something that will put you in Easy street. I don't blame them for it. They are in business for the purpose of selling things, but no sane woman would accept any one of them as her guide, philosopher and friend, in matters of retrenchment."

"It was the druggist who sold you five gallons of his patent disinfectant, telling you that you might save vast sums of money by having it on hand. There was a contagious disease in town then, and the druggist pointed out that people who had the disease were almost bankrupted by the expense. In case the disease was headed in our direction, all we had to do was to use this disinfectant and we'd be immune. The disgusted lady would turn in its tracks and hike away in some other direction."

"Of course, having the disinfectant on hand, we were suffering to use it, and when you heard that a man in the neighborhood had the heaves you concluded it was time to get busy. You sprayed the house with the stuff, and you know what happened then. We had to borrow a tent and camp out on the lawn for a week. The aroma infesting the house was so strong that the clock stopped and all our priceless

WOMEN RELUCTANT TO ENTER POLITICS

May Stranathan, noted Pittsburgh woman's editorial writer, is responsible for the statement that now that women have achieved their political independence and have been extended the glad hand of fellowship by man, there seems to be a strange reluctance among them to go forward into public life.

She places the cause of this reluctance on the fact that women are unversed in politics and are exercising caution until they learn the "ins" and "outs" of politics.

One of the first "ins" and "outs" of politics that it behooves the women to master, is the art of casting their ballot at the primary elections. Here it is that the candidates to lead the party fights for office are selected, and a great deal of the success of the cleaner politics movement rests entirely with this selection.

Women have just been given the opportunity of entering politics in general. It is not to be expected that they jump right in and assume the full burden of politics that it has taken man decades to master, but it is expected that before many more elections roll around they will be playing a most prominent part in the local and national political game.

THEN—AND NOW

Way back in April, 1917, this country seethed with excitement. The United States had declared war on Germany. Again, on November 11th, 1918, excitement was rife—the Armistice had been signed. But yesterday no such scenes developed, although another epoch making event had taken place when Commissioner Dressel and Representatives of the German Wirth Government formally signed the German-American peace treaty, which, if ratified by the Senate, and there seems to be little doubt but that it will be ratified, will go down in history as another victory for American arms, and a glaring defeat for Hun "Kultur."

The event slipped by with hardly more than a passing notice. Yet the document, as it is understood to read in this country, is of more than passing interest. Its provisions are understood to be:

1.—That Germany accept all obligations to the United States provided for in the Treaty of Versailles without reference to its acceptance or rejection by this country.

2.—That all money and property of German citizens now in the hands of the Alien property Custodian shall remain in that custody until claims of Americans against the German Government shall have been adjusted, unless released by United States law.

3.—That Germany waives all claims against the Government of the United States.

4.—That the treaty does not change the status of any person (Grover Bergdoll) now in desertion from the military establishment of the United States.

5.—That most-favored-nation treatment shall be accorded this country and its nationals in the matters of trade, residence, &c.

6.—That all fines, forfeitures, seizures, &c, imposed or made by the United States, are confirmed.

7.—That all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages accruing under the armistice, signed November 11, 1918, are expressly reserved to the United States.

President Harding seems to have accomplished the task, once considered almost impossible, of bringing order out of chaos in the treaty matter. At least, the Senate "Ir-reconcilables" have not poured forth their wrath at the conditions of the new treaty.

The treaty just signed secures for the United States all the privileges granted by Germany to the Allied powers through the treaty of Versailles. But the separate agreement also protects America's own interests in problems that concern only the two nations, giving us all we could have secured under any interpretation of the Versailles document, and in addition that safety for our distinctive claims which that document did not give. There seems no more peril in a separate treaty now than before 1914.

Fruit Goes to Waste.

Pursue Happiness Too Strenuously

We all seek happiness so eagerly that in the pursuit we often lose that joyous sense of existence and those quiet daily pleasures, the value of which our pride alone prevents us from acknowledging.

WAS FRANKLIN WRONG?

Ben Franklin said a great many wise things in his day. One of his sayings that has been widely quoted is: "A dollar saved is a dollar earned."

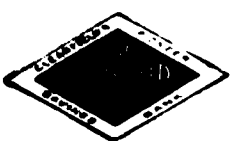

But one of our depositors says this is not true—that Ben Franklin was all wrong.

He says:

"It is impossible to save all you earn. The average man earns $5.00 for every dollar he is able to lay aside. You might say that he has $4.00 expense to each dollar of profit."

"If then, it is necessary to earn $5.00 in order to save $1.00 don't you see that any plan that saves an extra dollar is as good as $5.00 earned? Or to bring Franklin's famous saying up-to-date we must say 'A dollar saved is five dollars earned.'"

What do you think about it?

AMERICAN FOOD SHIP SAVES 18,000 BABES FROM STARVATION

Heroic Yankee Women Risk
Lives to Rescue Children, in Service of Near East Relief

Constantinople.—How the prompt action of Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary of the Near East Relief, and Harold C. Jaquith, representative of that American relief organization in Constantinople, saved the lives of 18,000 orphan children and seven American relief workers in Alexandropol, Armenia, is what all the representatives of the Allied nations in Constantinople are applauding today.

For five years the Near East Relief organization had built up a work of mercy throughout the former Turkish Empire and Transcaucasia, to a point where 54,600 little children were being housed, clothed, fed, given medical attendance and taught, and over 56,000 others being supplied with food. Then suddenly, on February 5, last, there came hurried cable reports of renewed fighting in Armenia and Transcaucasia, where 75,818 of these little ones were located under the protection of the Near

— ONE OF THE 18,000

East Relief. Consular representatives left the country. All foreigners piled onto ships and fled. War threatened to scatter the work and render vain the long, patient efforts of the Near East Relief to salvage a whole nation's children.

But the American men and women who had cared for these little ones were undismayed. They refused to leave under bombardment, with hostile armies sweeping through the streets where the Near East Relief's great orphanages had been established, with all supplies cut off and no communication with the outside world, or with that far American homeland whose representatives these heroic men and women are, they stuck to their posts. The last food from America had come in on November 6, 1920.

It was not until four months later that the new governments of the Transcaucasian states were established on a solid basis. But famine threatened. An appeal was made to American philanthropy: "Critical need for food products in Caucasus," the cable read. "No limit to need in Armenia. New government promises better facilities for relief activity than former government." A few days later, a further piteous plea followed: "Total orphans in Alexandropol 18,000. Supplies in Alexandropol allow half-rations, April 2nd to 30th. After May 1st, nothing."

But this splendid American relief organization had not waited. Food was already on the way. On April 22, Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, cabled: "Expect ship first week in May; 1,000 tons rice; 1,000 tons wheat flour; 600 tons cornmeal; corn flour; hominy; 50 tons sugar; 500 tons beans; 5,000 cases corn syrup, from New York and New Orleans direct to Batum. Additional 1,000 tons wheat flour from Pacific Coast June 1st."

The seven American relief workers in charge of the 18,000 little ones in Alexandropol cabled a last appeal: "No food at any price. Four days more and we are finished." But when the first relief ship "Queen" entered the deserted harbor of Batum on May 1, there were just ten bags of flour left. The food ship had come in time. America had saved the day—and the 18,000 little orphan children, who had suffered so much and lost so much in their short, war-clouded lives, never knew that gaunt hunger in the robes of death had knocked at the door of the orphanage at Alexandropol—and that America had thrust the bony hand away.

"It is the great heart of America that made this work of salvation possible," Mr. Vickrey declared. "The money that sends the bread to these children comes from ten million homes throughout the United States. It comes from the hearts of the most generous people in the world, who cannot bear to know that half a world away, little children are facing hunger and death, without helping them to life and happiness."

Mr. Vickrey is making a nationwide appeal to the people of the United States to keep this great work going. Contributions may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

The Republican Congressional Nomination

According to the rotation system, which has been followed in this congressional district for the past forty years, the Republican nomination in 1922 should come to Clearfield county. It has also been the custom in this district to allow the incumbent two terms. Captain Barclay, Mr. Dresser, Mr. Arnold, Mr. Rowland, Mr. Patton and Mr. Hall were all allowed only two terms, however deserving they may have been. Our present congressman, Mr. Jones, is now serving his second term.

It will be remembered that Deputy Attorney General William I. Swoope, of Clearfield, was defeated for the Republican nomination in this district in 1918 by only nine votes. He will again be a candidate next year, and will begin an active campaign as soon as the next November election is over.

Document of the Early Church.
The "Didache, or Teaching of the Twelve Apostles," was a didactic work for use in the early church. It was discovered by Bryennius at Constantinople and published in 1883. It had been written in Greek, about 1056 A. D. It is of great value for the study of organization, belief and worship of the early church and was held in high esteem. In it is a description of the two ways—of life and death—in the form of rules for Christian conduct.

For twenty hours this food is baked—one reason you like it—another reason why it digests so easily.

One of the important things in connection with any cereal food is to have it thoroughly baked or cooked. For baking or cooking changes the starch of the grains.

Grape-Nuts is the longest baked of all cereal foods. It is scientifically baked at carefully regulated temperatures for 20 hours. This is one of the reasons why Grape-Nuts digests so easily; why it agrees with many people who cannot take any other form of cereal without producing fermentation.

A goodly part of Grape-Nuts is converted into dextrose, ready to be immediately assimilated by the system, and yield strength and energy. A further portion has partially undergone this change, while there remains sufficient unchanged cereal to strengthen the digestive organs. It is then in a condition to meet the various requirements of the digestive system.

If you want to eat a most strengthening and nourishing food, and one that will digest more readily, go to your grocer today and get a package of Grape-Nuts. Eat it with stewed fruit or as a cereal with milk or cream; or make it into an appetizing pudding.

Every member of the family will enjoy its delicious flavor and wholesomeness.

POULTRY CULLING

DEMONSTRATION SCHEDULE
The Clearfield County Farm Bureau, assisted by Mr. D. M. Gray, poultry extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, will hold a poultry culling demonstration at the following places:

W. T. Winks, Curwensville, Pa., Tuesday, August 30th, at 8:30 a. m.
Joseph H. Hartsfeld, Luthersburg, Pa., Tuesday, August 30th, at 1:30 p. m.

George R. Mock, Philipsburg, R. D., Wednesday, August 31st, 6:30 p. m.

J. W. Meader, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 8:30 a. m.

Harrison Straw, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 1:30 p. m.

Harry Mitchell, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 6:30 p. m.

Granipian, Pa., Friday, September 2nd, at 8:30 p. m.

Perry Straw, Kermoo, Pa., Friday, September 2nd, 1:30 p. m.

Zeb Haag, Mahaffey, R. D. 2, Friday, September 2nd, at 6:30 p. m.

Any one interested in poultry should attend one of these demonstrations.

In many cases the farmer has looked upon the chicken as a necessary evil, paying little attention, save to what she ate, or where she was housed. A mere sick issue to which the women folk tended. Only lately are farmers generally wakening up to the fact that after all if the groceries and clothing that the farm woman have paid for with their chicken money had had to come from the crop and stock money it would have meant the difference between profit and loss.

As with every other class of livestock, the pure-bred sire is the means by which most rapid improvement can be secured, so in poultry a high class male bird will increase egg production. But within the flock a constant culling out of poor individuals is necessary to keep up production.

The individual hen shows, by bodily conformation and color changes just what kind of a producer she is and the time to cull out the flock is during the season when production is low. Begin in July and continue through August and September. A systematic going over the flock every two or three weeks will get rid of the loafers and give you just as many eggs as you will get from the entire flock culls and all, besides this, the feed that you would give to the cull birds will be saved and you will be a long step in the direction of a breeding up program.

Remember the date and place. It will be time well spent.

PENNA. GRAPES IN MARKET

At the present time, locally grown grapes are being offered in the various markets of southeastern Pennsylvania according to the Bureau of Markets of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. It is expected that the shipments from Erie County will be started about Labor Day and that the heavy movement of the crop will start about a week later.

PENNSYLVANIA PEACH CROP

Reaches Market: PRICES ARE HIGH
Reports to the Bureau of Markets of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture indicate great variation in the supply of locally grown peaches available in different markets in the state. Quite a few orchards have escaped the frost, to some extent, and a few have apparently been fortunate enough to have a full crop. Prices prevailing are rather high, but it is not likely that the lower figures will prevail on the New York State crop, which is the only large commercial source available in the east this year. In the southwestern part of the state, Elbertas and similar varieties are being harvested.

Smart Style in Knitted Wear

STYLES have become so important in knitted things for outerwear that garments are named after them—“tuxedos,” “diving suits,” “tie-backs,” and so on, rather than by more revealing terms. In wool, silk and finer silk manufacturers have made smart things for outer wear that deserved to be named and are. The sweater-coat has become the “tuxedo,” our old favorite the “tie-back” is now a “tie-back,” and the sweater pure and simple almost is no more—the “middy”—with various descriptive words preceding the title, the tuxedo and the semi-tuxedo have replaced it, added by new styles.

This movement to emphasize style has resulted in the most attractive outer wear for fall that has ever been presented by the knitting mills. These knitted things are for everyone—young and old—but they fit the youth of school girls and young women at college as snugly as smooth cheeks and sparkling eyes. Worsted middies in white with cuffs in navy or cadet blue or jockey red are turned up about the bottom, with flat pearl buttons calling attention to the fast, and made with elbow-length sleeves also provided with pearl buttons. As sure as fate some one will invent a knitted hat to complete this snappy affair for fall.

That slips through supporting straps at the sides. This is a dignified coat that has many rivals in fancier stitches and revers of angora or other wool furs. Very often the revers and cuffs are in white on a colored coat, or in another color, as pearl gray on shell pink, gray on navy, white on jade, flame on white.

One sees these knitted tuxedos everywhere—at the country club, the concert, the beach, on the street. Their numbers will increase with the coming of fall and we shall find them in the company of dainty blouses like that shown here and with silk skirts. This blouse is made of French blue georgette with embroidery in black and corse. It features the bell sleeve and illustrates the tuck-in style, which is at least holding its own among many over-blouse rivals.

I was escorting two girl friends home from a dance one night, when we noticed a wide-open window in a house we were passing. Thinking to avert a possible burglary, I stuck my head inside and shouted, "Say, good people!" But that was as far as I got, for a bucketful of water struck me full in the face and a furious female voice shouted, "I told you what you'd get if you didn't get home before ten!" —Chicago Journal.

Honor Milk is now Pet Milk

WHEN your grocer hands you Pet Milk in response to your call for Honor Brand you can accept it with the assurance that you are getting the milk you asked for.

Honor Brand and Pet Milk are the same milk—only the labels are different.

In view of this fact to simplify distribution and to avoid confusion, we will hereafter use and advertise only the Pet label which is recognized in millions of American homes as a mark of the highest quality and uniformity.

Continue to ask for Honor Brand as long as your grocer's supply lasts. When he gets a new supply it will be Pet Milk. Then you will know that the rechristening is accomplished and your old favorite becomes your new Pet.

Pet Milk is "milk at its best" just pure rich wholesome milk. Nothing is added, nothing removed but part of the natural water. It comes to you as sweet and fresh as spring flowers. Try Pet Milk in your favorite recipe. Two sizes—tall and small. Write for Pet Recipe Book.

Terriers Trim Wings of The Allegheny Steelers

Local Squad Completely Outclasses Osceola Battlers. Game Ends With Clearfield On Long End Of A 5 To 2 Score.

Manager Hoffman and his Terriers got sweet revenge for Wednesday's defeat by Osceola's Steelers when they met the same gang on the Osceola grounds yesterday afternoon and with the incomparable Meader in the box bumped the Steelers into submission without much effort, running away with the game 5 to 2.

Had Them Outclassed
The difference in the score does not begin to show the superiority of the Terriers over the Steelers in this game. Onslow and his bunch were never in it for a minute. Meader allowed them but six scattered hits. Tyson's single in the third was their first bingle. They got their two runs in the ninth inning. Zellers, first up, hit to Getz and was out at first. Tyson's hit to Spiers bounded so high Spiers was unable to get the ball in time to make a play at first. Morphet hit to Spiers who got Tyson at second. Edmondson hit a liner to right which Fileshter got in his glove hand after a hard run but was unable to hold and Morphet went to third. Meader had two strikes on Shaw and curved the third one over but Umpire Macken refused to call it and gave Ben another chance. He hit the next pitch to centre for two bases scoring Morphet and Edmondson. Gill rolled one down to Getz and "Old Legs" tossed the ball to Harris ahead of runner and it was all over.

Again Beat Zellers
This thing of beating Zellers is getting to be a habit with the Terriers, yesterday's game being the fourth in which they bested him. They started their scoring on him in the very first inning. After Spiers and Callahan had gone out on high fouls Getz hit safely, stole second and scored on Harris' single.

Another run was tallied in the second when Crossin "walked" and scored on Meader's three base drive to right.

Meader's single and Callahan's double scored run No. 3 in the fifth. Harris' triple and Hoffman's single put another across in the sixth, while the fifth run resulted from circles by Meader and Spiers and a sacrifice fly by Getz in the seventh.

The Game's Features
The chief feature of the game was Johnny Meader's great work. In addition to his airtight pitching he poled out foul hits and scored two runs. He was a big chunk of the picture.

The work of Spiers and Getz around short and second could not have been improved on, they being responsible for two very fast double plays in addition to their stellar individual play. Zerfuh also performed very capably at third.

The funniest play of the game occurred in the third. Joe Harris hit a liner to Zellers, which was going a mile a minute. The pitcher attempted to hop out of the way, but

Picked Up Along Third Base Line

ON THE OSCEOLA BENCH

It sure was chilly weather they had over on the Osceola bench yesterday along about the eighth inning. The only warning feature was "Fighting Jack's" remarks to his players.

The C. C. A. A. management ignored the protest of the Clearfield Tensorial Artists Protective Association when they signed the hairy, bewiskered House of David ball club for next Tuesday's game. The House of David is a religious sect which does not believe in cutting either hair or beard, but do believe in athletic sports. The members of this team would not know a pair of shears or a razor if they met them face to face and as a result appear on the ball field with long flowing manes and forelocks. Brother Jedediah, the short stop, makes use of his "bunch of brush" in a manner which has caused a protest from opposing players in every town they have appeared.

Brother Jedediah, when he sees the ball coming his way, drops his whiskers as a sort of screen and the ball being unable to get through "the brush" Bro. Jed gleefully fishes it out and hurls it to first ahead of the runner.

If Jed tries this when Joe Harris is hitting we suggest to Manager Hoffman that he provide the ump with a Pyrene extinguisher to put the fire out in that brush. But don't fail to turn out Tuesday to see Jedediah, Hezekiah, Amaranthus, Malachia and all the rest. They are not only good to look upon but can play baseball.

We always forgot to mention that the benefit sale put on by Manager Thurston on Booster Day netted the ball club the handsome sum of $107.61.

The Clearfield team goes to Indiana on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Imber have returned to their home on Tuinpike avenue after spending the past two weeks with friends and relatives in Bradford.

Dollar Day Crowds Throng The Local Stores Today

Dollar Day dawned bright and sunny in Clearfield this morning and by the time 8 o'clock arrived a line of eager shoppers was converging from every section of town toward the shopping centers on Market, Second and Third streets.

The early shoppers were followed by a steady stream, which appeared to get stronger as the morning advanced and by noon time many local bargain hunters had made two and three trips down town after different merchandise they needed.

Additional help had been provided by many of the merchants and shopping this morning was a pleasure as well as a profit.

The afternoon crowd was much larger than that of the morning and a most satisfactory day was had by all the merchants participating. Many out of town people were in for the afternoon and much merchandise was carried home by the visitors.

The day was a huge success in every particular and marked another epoch in Clearfield merchandising.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

THEIR BEST NOW AND ALWAYS

Dean Mann of Cornell says: "When the boys of today shall have become grown men, the time will have arrived when this nation will be feeling acutely the inevitable shortage of timber for our imperative needs, unless in the meantime a new attitude and a new program for the protection of our disappearing timber supply shall have been instituted. The boy scouts of today may well exert their full effort and influence in helping to assure an adequate wood supply against the time when they will man the nation. A first and fundamental step is education—understanding the problem and the way out and helping other persons to understand it. Let the boy scouts use every means toward this end. It is doubly necessary now that we are again at the beginning of the camping season and the dry periods.

"The boy scouts have high ideals for national service. They know how to quicken public thought and action. I hope they will do their best now and always in this matter of forest protection and development, which is so intimately bound up with our future well-being as a nation."

THE BOY SCOUT "ON DUTY."

How the Bright Lads Serve in Directing Convention Visitors and Otherwise Give Aid.

SCOUTS' BIGGEST ENROLLMENT.

June, 1921, showed the biggest enrollment of scouts in the history of the movement, a fact which ought to be a matter of pride and congratulation to all concerned. The more boys that come under the influence of scouting, the healthier, happier, bluer will the boyhood of America be, the greater the promise of its future. It is not meaningless chance that makes us hear on every side that boy scouts aren't in the police courts, that boy scouts are in the honor rolls of our schools, that boy scouts are performing this or that civic service. Scouting rings true to its aims. It not only claims to fit boys for manhood but it does it, so why shouldn't we be proud that the Boy Scouts of America numbers an active membership of over 400,000. Why shouldn't we salute and pay all honor to the scoutmaster, the volunteer leader of boyhood under a great banner to a great goal? Why shouldn't we say to them and each other: "Come on, let's make it 500,000 by Christmas?"

RULES FOR BOY SCOUTS.

1. Do not start a forest fire.
2. Tell all your companions about the damage which forest fires do.
3. Report all forest fires to the nearest forest officer.
4. Learn how to fight forest fires, and take a hand in putting them out.
5. Plant forest trees in vacant corners, waste places, abandoned fields, on barren mountain slopes and other unoccupied land.
6. Destroy insects which injure and destroy forest trees.
7. Destroy rats, blights, and other fungous foes of the forest.
8. Help clean up the forest by using the dead wood found lying on the forest floor.
9. Cut out only undesirable trees and guard the more valuable ones.—Boy Scouts' First Book of Forestry—Illick.

SOME BOY SCOUT GOOD TURNS.

St. Louis City boy scouts turned out to the number of 1,000 to make a house-to-house canvass for clothing to aid the stricken people of Armenia. Pittsburgh boys scouts gathered wild flowers all the spring and distributed them, made into attractive bouquets, throughout the hospitals of the city. Tulsa, Okla., carried on a "spring offensive" against the bagworm, and collected nearly a ton of glass, sharp pieces of metal and other debris from roads in the interests of fire safety.

Situation In Mingo Field Is Acute

Federal Troops Gather At Camp Sherman Ready For Mingo Call

Army Officers, Sent By Plane From Washington, Report Outlook Discouraging. Troops Being Held Ready For Instant Dispatch. Citizens Armed To Defend Homes Against Miners.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The situation in the Mingo mine field is "acute" according to reports made by army officers to the War Department today at noon. An army airplane is now in Charleston to watch the movements of the "miners' army" reported marching on the Mingo and Logan coal fields, Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright announced today. More planes will be sent if necessary, he said. Late reports indicate an armed clash may come at any hour.

Troops are being held in readiness at Camp Sherman, it was announced. General Bandholz, who is investigating, reported that while the situation is "acute" it has not yet developed to a point where Federal troops are required. Concentrating At Camp Sherman.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Federal troops stationed at the Barracks here entrained early today for Camp Sherman, enroute to the West Virginia coal district where armed miners are marching in protest of martial law.

The detachment included 300 officers and men of the regular training companies of the 10th Infantry. They marched thru the streets of Columbus to the depot. The regulars will be joined at Camp Sherman by 565 officers and men of the 19th Infantry it was understood here.

Trains Leaving District Crowded.
Hundreds of autos were offered to aid in reconnoitering. Trains were crowded with women and children hurrying to get out of the district, fearing violence and sabotage. It is understood the miners propose to strike at non-union fields in this county as well as Mingo.

Reports here that fighting took place during the night were denied today. Deputies posted at lookouts were said to have been fired on and after returning the fire engaged in a hot battle. The miners' force was reported to number 6,000.

Mingo County Prepared.
Williamson, Aug. 26.—Mingo county is preparing for war today. Intensified by the suspense of waiting for the advance of the "5,000," the entire county was steeped in silence. Utmost secrecy surrounded all preparations for resisting the army reported heading for this county in protest against labor condition and martial law.

Sheriff Pinson admitted he had been in communication with Sheriff Chaffin of Logan county but declined to say whether he will go to his aid or not. State police are prepared to resist the army if any disturbance is caused. A thousand men, officials intimated, can be mobilized for instant action if the occasion arises.

Last Stand To Avert Civil War.
Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 26.—A last desperate stand to avert civil war in West Virginia was taken here today after a conference between Gov. Morgan, Brig. Gen. Bandholz, who arrived here from Washington by airplane, Pres. C. F. Kenney, of District No. 17, United Mine Workers of America. It was agreed to use every effort possible to persuade the miners marching into Mingo to disburse.

Kenney left Charleston this morning for Madison accompanied by Fred Mooney, secretary of the union where they expect to overtake the "army" and warn them that federal

TERMS OF IRISH REPLY ARE NOW MADE PUBLIC

British Cabinet Meets To Consider Dail's Reply. Government Said To Be "Worried" By Note.

London, Eng., Aug. 26.—Sinn Fein has rejected British peace proposals it was officially announced today. The British cabinet met at noon today to consider the reply of the Dail Eireann. A time limit, within which the Sinn Fein must accept the government's proposals as a peace basis was to be set, it was believed.

The British press today agreed the Dail's reply worried the government but "left a loophole."

ITALIAN BAND GIVES CONCERT LAST EVENING

The concert given by the Clearfield Italian Band at the Court House corner last evening, was listened to by an audience which crowded the big public square from opening note to the close of the excellent program rendered.

The band was composed of twenty-one men under the direction of Prof. Ligi D'Michael and all are deserving and have been working hard to entertainment furnished free of charge.

The Clearfield Italian Band is composed of musicians of that nationality, many of whom are young Americans. They are self-supporting and have been working hard to develop a good band. How well they are succeeding under the very capable direction of Prof. D'Michael, who has worked wonders during the time he has had charge of this band was shown by last night's concert.

The people of Clearfield appreciate the efforts of the citizens of Italian nationality to give us a band and all who heard last night's concert appreciate the music they made.

The reply to the peace offer sent to George was then read to the Parliament. Mickey Collins, minister of finance told the Dail it was planned to negotiate loans of 100,000 pounds sterling in Ireland and $20,000,000 in America.

Booze Cargo Grabbed

Chester, Pa., Aug. 26.—A shipment of liquor estimated to be worth $30,000 was discovered by accident here yesterday when a traffic policeman arrested the driver of a Baltimore for failing to have proper license tags on his machine. The driver, who described himself as William Fisher of New York, was held under $1,000 bail pending further investigation.

DESTRUCTION OR DISPOSAL OF LIQUOR SEIZED BY GOVERNMENT IS NOW ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes in a general order issued today to prohibition enforcement officials, ordered the immediate destruction, or disposal where possible, of stocks of liquor seized by enforcement officers.

Automobiles and other vehicles taken from bootleggers must also be disposed of and a report of same made by the officials before September 15th. Storage of confiscated liquor and property is costing the government thousands daily, Haynes said.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY FAIR PROMISES TO BE BIGGER--BETTER

Fair Management Making Many Improvements At Fair Grounds. Stock Mileage Almost Doubled. Many Entries Expected

The big Clearfield County Fair will be held Sept. 27th to 30th—rain or shine—and it won't rain this year for everyone is making preparations for the biggest and best Fair ever held in Central Pennsylvania.

The citizens of Clearfield county have made the Fair what it is, and with the loyal co-operation of the entire county and especially of the farmers this will be the greatest fair we ever held.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. HOLDS UP ROAD REPAIR

Stretch Of Road Between Borough Limits And Concrete Bridge Must Wait For Authorization From Harrisburg.

The State Highway Department may truly be said to work in most mysterious ways its wonders to perform, and we must say those ways are past finding out. Those of us who have to travel to and from the Philadelphia and Tyrone country have been waiting patiently for many months for the completion of the permanent road building between Woodland and Blue Ball. The work of improving this road has been progressing very satisfactorily and, according to all the dope now, the Department expects to be able to open the road for traffic on or about September 10th. So much for that.

Now for the fly in our ointment. It is also the purpose of the Highway Department, so their local representatives say, to relay or repave the brick road from the borough line to the New York Central tracks near the concrete bridge over Clearfield creek and Lord knows—to say nothing of the poor devils who have been traveling that road—it certainly needs relaying. They have even gone so far as to tear up a section several hundred yards in length starting at the Borough line, and there she lays.

A formal inquest over the body of Lt. C. C. Little, U. S. N., of Newberry, Mass., who perished with the 42 others when the airship exploded and sank in the Humber river, was opened here today.

By that time the State road from Bigler to Blue Ball will have been finally opened to traffic and thus about the time travelers are ready to take advantage of this really fine piece of road and along comes the order of authorization to complete the improvement from the Clearfield borough line to the creek this end of the road is closed to traffic and another of those death-defying, salvation-deceiving detours around by Shawville or Litz bridge to Woodland is instituted upon a long suffering public.

Everything is in better shape for a Fair than ever before. New drinking fountains have been put in—fire protection has been installed—and nearly 500 feet of new up-to-date horse and cattle buildings are being put up. The races and attractions are bigger and better than ever—and no gambling will be permitted.

Now the management is depending on the co-operation of the farmers to bring the Agricultural Exhibit: the best ever shown—and we have assurances that they will not fail.

Fair is scarce this season all over the United States but Clearfield county with its protected hillside and valleys has more fruit than anywhere else in the country.

Everyone is going to bring an exhibit of fruit and vegetables—you will all be astounded at the abundance. All exhibitors are privileged to sell their exhibits after three o'clock on Friday. Whatever is left after noon on Saturday, unclaimed, will be taken to the Children's Home.

The premium for fruit, grain and vegetables are liberal and with the privilege of selling the exhibits it is

PROGRESS BALLOONS CAUGHT—MANY GET SUBSCRIPTIONS

Residents Over Toward Mt. Joy And Goshen Region, Where They Finally Landed And Were Caught, Got The Tags.

The balloons sent up by The Progress from the park on Saturday afternoon last were handicapped by the ruin and did not get as far away as was to be expected. There was a strong southwest wind blowing at the time, which carried the gas bags down the river and across into Mt. Joy and Goshen.

The first balloon reported was found by James O. Leonard of Gikard township near Shawville. He returned it to The Progress and will get this paper regularly for one year.

Bright and early this morning Cosner Stull of the Third Ward and Harvey Wilson, who lives on the Mt. Joy road, just beyond Moore Creek, dropped into the office each armed with a four dollar Dollar Day tag. These tags were also recovered in the Lick Run country.

A little late in the morning James Mead, of Philadelphia, dropped in with one of the cards which entitled him to The Progress free the coming year. This balloon and card was picked up by his brother, Butler I. Mead, on the old Mead homestead farm at the top of Lick Run hill.

David Whaling brought in another tag after dinner today. It was picked up in the lumber yard of the Witmer-Steele Company, near the foot of Duckett's hill. Dave will read The Progress for the next twelve months.

ad upon a long suffering public. How long! O, Lord! how long! are we to be denied the privilege of a decent road thru this section toward Tyrone. Why can't the Highway Department get a move on—just once—and open the road clear through on September 10th.

EUROPE'S GOLD RESERVES

While Europe sent to the United States more than two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold during the first six months of the current year above receipts from this country, nevertheless a slight gain occurred in that period in the total gold reserves of Europe held by central banks or government agents.

Only three of the fourteen chief European gold holding countries showed a diminution in their gold stocks from January 1 to July 1, and these losses were relatively slight, their combined total amounting to less than twelve million dollars. This loss was more than offset by gains among the other eleven countries, the net increase of the fourteen combined amounting to $1,100,000.

Yet between January 1 and July 1, the gold stock held by the Federal reserve banks in the United States increased by $402,601,000, or nearly 20 per cent. of the $2,059,330,000 they held the first of the year, almost two-thirds of the increase being made up by the gold from European shipping points, the rest coming from non-European and domestic sources.

An analysis of this gold movement shows that present European gold reserves are not being drained to swell America's holdings, but that the increments to this country's hoard since the first of the year, in so far as shipments from European points are concerned, are chiefly accounted for by three great streams of the metal consisting of newly mined supplies from Africa coming by way of London; of gold yielded up by India, also coming by way of London; and of metal that to have originated from Russian sources, eventually coming to America through various European countries.

Europe's centralized reserves were built up subsequent to the outbreak of the Great War far above previous figures, and were further increased since the Armistice, by concentrating in them as far as possible all gold privately held. While these reserves have been, by continued government impoundage kept rigidly stabilized at the points attained as a result of those extraordinary war and postwar measures, in the face of the recent tremendous suction toward America, nevertheless the three great streams have flowed through these countries to the United States with little impediment during the last six months. No material effort has been made in Europe to divert the gold from them for the purpose of building up further the reserves there. The gold has served to reduce European indebtedness in America rather than to aid in restoring the gold standard in Europe.

It was stated in the Federal Reserve Bulletin for June, 1921, that the Director of the Swedish Mint had recently estimated that seventy tons of Russian gold were received in Sweden since 1920. He was quoted as saying that after refining it was re-exported, chiefly to the United States, representing an assayed value here of about $40,000,000. The bulletin also said that not less than another $60,000,000 of Russian gold or its equivalent had found its way to the United States through France and other channels.

The movement of gold from Russia to the United States is not definitely traceable. It is thought to have come to this country indirectly through various continental countries in addition to those mentioned above. At the outbreak of the war in 1914 the Russian State Bank held $779,750,000 in gold; by the end of 1917, the date of the last definite statement of gold held in the bank, the stock had dwindled to $633,000,000. It has been reported that this balance has since been largely dispersed and the amount remaining is unknown, but is thought to be small.

It appears therefore that the United States received, between January 1 and July 10, the equivalent of $106,599,000 of African and Indian gold by way of London and the equivalent of more than $100,000,000 of Russian gold by way of Continental Europe. These three chief sources account for the fact that Europe as a whole has been able to make substantial gold payments to the United States without further impairing her existing centralized gold stocks.

Expect Battle Before Dark.

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Sheriff Don Chaffin issued final instructions to his deputies in preparation for the battle with the "miners' army" expected before dark. The armed force of miners was sighted at Sharpless, 11 miles east of where civilian forces armed with machine guns and rifles are commanding the approaches.

Another detachment was reported sighted at Petonia. The miners are said to be making good time.

Civilians Ready To Protect Homes.

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Civilians lay in wait in a mountain pass near here, today for the "invading" army of miners marching toward Mingo county in protest against martial law.

Posses were heavily armed. Machine guns were reported commanding roads and other barriers ready to stop the advance of the armed miners. Advice here were the marchers had reached Blair, near the Boone county line during the night and intended to push across today. Don Chaffin, sheriff in charge of the "defenders," declared there would be a battle "the minute we are attacked by forces entering the county." Protection of homes and property will be the only occasion for open hostility, he said.

The Clearfield County Fair takes pride in the fact that the premiums and mileage for stock are the largest in the State. The management of the Fair have held strictly to the policy that all money taken in at the Fair shall be expended for improvements and distributed in premiums, etc.

No Agricultural Fair can be a success without the hearty co-operation of every citizen, both farmer and town dweller. One of the officials who has been connected with Fairs and Fair work for 30 years says that in all his experience never has a better spirit of enthusiasm and mutual interest been shown than is shown right here in Old Clearfield.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

"By Skinny"

BLUE WILL BE THE DAY

Dr. Wilbur Fisk Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, thinks the world is going to flake at a gallop unless the reformers get together and fight as one man to stem the downward tide.

Dr. Crafts has been investigating the Dempsey-Carpentier fight and is now "pending" a week at the doors of Congress promoting moral measures relating to prohibition enforcement, divorce, gambling and a Congressional investigation of the moving picture interest as a trust.

"Reformers," said he "can no longer fight one moral foe at a time, as we used to do, and would still like to do—prohibitionists, fighting, bootleggers, amateur boxers against professional sluggers, advocates of Federal picture regulation pressing that issue alone—not even resisting the commercializing of the weekly rest day with pictures confessedly unfit for any day. As all the commercialized evils, including commercialized politics, have recently joined forces from Boston to Los Angeles in anti-blue leagues and anti-prohibition leagues, all who would defend any of our American ideals against these mostly foreign hordes must fight them all."

WOMEN WILL PRINT

The women of Pennsylvania are soon to have their own newspaper, eight columns wide and eight pages thick. Announcement was made from the headquarters of the Women's Republican Club that the first issue of The Woman's Press will appear on September 7.

The paper, which will be a weekly will not be a political organ; but, according to Mrs. Archibald Harmon, president of the Women's Republican Club, will aim to print general news in unbiased fashion. Mrs. Harmon has been chosen associate editor. The paper will be published in Harrisburg by the Women's Publishing Company.

WEATHER MAKERS AT IT

Pennsylvania weather sharks are now engaged in the pleasant and harmless task of picking out our winters for us. All agree that we are in for a hard winter—perhaps. One old fellow from down at Pottsville goes into details and "This winter will be the record-breaker since 1900," he says. "There will be twenty eight heavy snows, the first on Nov. 9 and there will be sleighing for Thanksgiving day. It will continue warm until about Oct. 15, however."

HOW PEOPLE DO CHANGE

"We cannot make peace except in company with our allies," said Senator Lodge in the summer of 1918. "It would brand us with everlasting dishonor and bring ruin to us also if we undertook to make a separate peace."

The separate peace treaty between the United States and Germany was signed by representatives of both nations on Thursday.

GUESS HE MUST BE RIGHT

Over-eating, insufficient sleeping and lack of exercise were characterized by Dr. Jonathan Rigdon of the Central Normal College, Danville, Ind., as the three chief vices of American school teachers. Speaking at the third day's session of the Allegheny County Teachers' Institute in Soldiers' Memorial Hall, he advised his hearers to avoid them if they wished to be long-lived and efficient workers.

"M. SQUILL, the druggist, is selling some wonderful liquid porcelain, and I think we ought to have a bottle," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "There are a dozen things about the house which would be greatly improved if enameled. The bathtub, for instance, is a disgrace, as most of the white coating has disappeared."

"People who don't like our bathtub don't need to wash themselves in it," replied Jamesworthy. "It's a good enough bathtub for any reasonable person. Of course, you want to put a coat of your liquid porcelain on it, as a measure of economy, but, like all your retrenchment schemes, it would be a fizzle. The porcelain would never dry, and the first time I took a bath I'd get my person covered with it and would have to go to the taxidermist for relief."

"Last summer you had another great scheme for saving our hard-earned doubloons. You painted the lawn swing and never said a word to me about it. After dark, I took a seat in the swing, to rest my weary bones, and when I wanted to leave it, I found I couldn't. I stuck to that swing like a two-cent stamp to a dunning letter. The neighbors had to come over and pry me loose with spades and things before I could get away. My raiment was ruined, and it was a suit I had worn only three seasons. You explained to me afterward that you thought you'd be saving money by painting the swing yourself. Your passionate fondness for the kind of economy that involves spending money has brought these gray hairs to my sideboards and made me old before my time."

"There's only one reliable way to save money, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Salt it down. Put it in a tin can and solder the lid down tight. If you go to the druggists and grocers and hardware men, and ask them how to economize, they'll try to sell you something that will put you in Easy street. I don't blame them for it. They are in business for the purpose of selling things, but no sane woman would accept any one of them as her guide, philosopher and friend, in matters of retrenchment."

"It was the druggist who sold you five gallons of his patent disinfectant, telling you that you might save vast sums of money by having it on hand. There was a contagious disease in town then, and the druggist pointed out that people who had the disease were almost bankrupted by the expense. In case the disease was headed in our direction, all we had to do was to use this disinfectant and we'd be immune. The disgusted malady would turn in its tracks and hike away in some other direction."

"Of course, having the disinfectant on hand, we were suffering to use it, and when you heard that a man in the neighborhood had the heaves you concluded it was time to get busy. You sprayed the house with the stuff, and you know what happened then. We had to borrow a tent and camp out on the lawn for a week. The aroma infesting the house was so strong that the clock stopped and all our priceless

Oil Paintings Turned Black.

"Nobody could enter the house without wearing a sack over his head. It rained all the time we were camped on the lawn, and we all caught the champion colds of our lives. It was a week of unadulterated misery, and it was the result of your determination to save money by every expensive means. The only comfort or pleasure I got out of the whole business was derived from twisting the druggist's nose and telling him what I thought of him."

"The grocer told you last fall that you might save fabulous sums by buying several bushels of tomatoes, and eight dozen glass jars, and endless quantities of spices and vinegar, and making your own ketchup. You made it, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and it all spoiled. We buried it darkly at dead of night, the suds with our bayonets turning."

"You think you're smart, don't you?" inquired Mrs. Jamesworthy, petulantly.

Did you ever stop to consider that Dame Nature put all the needed ingredients into milk that is needed for proper nourishment? Experts have found out that if a person lives on one single food that milk will sustain the body longer than any one thing that's known.

And we want to say that when you're giving your kiddies all the Clearfield Milk they can drink, you're giving them that which will build bone and muscle. It is worth putting lots of milk on the kiddies' menu, isn't it?

Another Convincing Endorsement Given Famous Nerv-Worth

W. O. Man Quickly Overcame Weakness, Nerves, Sleeplessness.

"I had a sick spell, and it left me in such a nervous condition that I could not sleep," wrote M. L. Betzer, 230 W. North St., Piquette, Ohio. "I was weak in the legs and couldn't go to work without being tired out at night. I decided to try Nerv-Worth, and after my second bottle I am happy to say I sleep good, and I'm not a bit nervous. I'm getting more strength every day."

Nothing needs to be added to the above statement to make it more effective because it tells its own story. Those who suffer from nervous disorders, stomach trouble, and their attendant ills, should take heed to this message for they will find that the old reliable Nerv-Worth containing extracts of roots and plants, will give them quick relief. If you are not satisfied after taking your first bottle, remember that your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

POULTRY CULLING

DEMONSTRATION SCHEDULE
The Clearfield County Farm Bureau, assisted by Mr. D. M. Gray, poultry extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, will hold a poultry culling demonstration at the following places:

W. T. Winks, Curwensville, Pa., Tuesday, August 30th, at 8:30 a. m.
Joseph H. Hartsfeld, Luthersburg, Pa., Tuesday, August 30th, at 1:30 p. m.

White Pine Poultry Farm, DuBois, R. D. 2, Tuesday, August 30th, at 6:30 p. m.

Bradford, Pa., Wednesday, August 31st, at 8:30 a. m.

J. G. Dale, Morrisdale, R. D., Wednesday, August 31st, at 1:30 p. m.

George R. Mock, Philipsburg, R. D., Wednesday, August 31st, at 6:30 p. m.

J. W. Meader, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 8:30 a. m.

Harrison Straw, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 1:30 p. m.

Harry Mitchell, Clearfield, R. D., Thursday, September 1st, at 6:30 p. m.

Grampian, Pa., Friday, September 2nd, at 8:30 p. m.

Perry Straw, Kermoo, Pa., Friday, September 2nd, at 1:30 p. m.

Zeb Haag, Mahaffey, R. D. 2, Friday, September 2nd, at 6:30 p. m.

Any one interested in poultry should attend one of these demonstrations.

In many cases the farmer has looked upon the chicken as a necessary evil, paying little attention, save to what she ate, or where she was housed.

A mere side issue to which the women folk tended. Only lately are farmers generally awakening up to the fact that after all if the groceries and clothing that the farm women have paid for with their chicken money had had to come from the crop and stock money it would have meant the difference between profit and loss.

As with every other class of livestock, the pure-bred sire is the means by which most rapid improvement can be secured, so in poultry a high class male bird will increase egg production. But within the flock a constant culling out of poor individuals is necessary to keep up production.

The individual hen shows by bodily conformation and color changes just what kind of a producer she is and the time to cull out the flock is during the season when production is low. Begin in July and continue through August and September. A systematic going over the flock every two or three weeks will get rid of the loafers and give you just as many eggs as you will get from the entire flock culls and all, besides this, the feed that you would give to the cull birds will be saved and you will be a long step in the direction of a breeding up program.

Remember the date and place. It will be time well spent.

PENNA. GRAPES IN MARKET

At the present time, locally grown grapes are being offered in the various markets of southeastern Pennsylvania according to the Bureau of Markets of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. It is expected that the shipments from Erie County will be started about Labor Day and that the heavy movement of the crop will start about a week later.

PENNSYLVANIA PEACH CROP REACHES MARKET:

PRICES ARE HIGH

Reports to the Bureau of Markets of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture indicate great variation in the supply of locally grown peaches available in different markets in the state. Quite a few orchards have escaped the frost, to some extent, and a few have apparently been fortunate enough to have a full crop. Prices prevailing are rather high, but it is not likely that the lower figures will prevail on the New York State crop, which is the only large commercial source available in the east this year.

In the southwestern part of the state, Elbertas and similar varieties are being harvested.

Smart Style in Knitted Wear

STYLES have become so important in knitted things for outerwear that garments are named after them—as "tuxedos," "slip-overs," "tie-backs," and so on, rather than by more revealing terms. In wool, silk and fiber silk manufacturers have made smart things for outer wear that deserved to be named and are. The sweater-coat has become the "tuxedo," our old favorite the surplus waist is now a "tie-back," and the sweater pure and simple almost is no more—the "middy"—with various descriptive words preceding this title, the tuxedo and the semi-tuxedo have replaced it, aided by new sweater-blouses.

This movement to emphasize style has resulted in the most attractive outer wear for fall that has ever been presented by the knitting trade. These knitted things are for everyone—young or old—but they fit the youth of school girls and young women at college as surely as smooth cheeks and sparkling eyes. Worst of middies in white with collars in navy or cadet blue or jockey red are turned up about the bottom with flat pearl buttons calling attention to the face, and made with elbow-length sleeves also provided with turned-up cuffs. As sure as fate someone will invent a knitted hat to complete this snappy affair for fall.

A plain tuxedo is shown above. Full length sweaters and blouses are provided by knitting the yarn in a different stitch and there is a detachable knitted collar finished with small tassels that slips through supporting straps at the sides. This is a dignified coat that has many rivals in fancier stitches and revers of angora or other wool furs. Very often the revers and cuffs are in white on a colored coat, or in another color, as pearl gray on shell pink, gray on navy, white on jade, flame on white.

One sees these knitted tuxedos everywhere—at the country club, the concert, the bench, on the street. Their numbers will increase with the coming of fall and we shall find them in the company of dainty blouses like that shown here and with silk skirts. This blouse is made of French blue georgette with embroidery in black and cerise. It features the bell sleeve and illustrates the tuck-in style, which is at least holding its own among many over-blouse rivals.

Terriers Trim Wings of The Allegheny Steelers

Local Squad Completely Outclasses Osceola Battlers. Game Ends With Clearfield On Long End Of A 5 To 2 Score.

Manager Hoffman and his Terriers got sweet revenge for Wednesday's defeat by Osceola's Steelers when they met the same gang on the Osceola grounds yesterday afternoon and with the incomparable Meader in the box bumped the Steelers into submission without much effort, running away with the game 5 to 2.

Had Them Outclassed

The difference in the score does not begin to show the superiority of the Terriers over the Steelers in this game. Onslow and his bunch were never in it for a minute. Meader allowed them but six scattered hits. Tyson's single in the third was their first bingle. They got their two runs in the ninth inning. Zellers, first up, hit to Getz and was out at first. Tyson's hit to Spiers bounded so high Spiers was unable to get the ball in time to make a play at first. Morpeth hit to Spiers who got Tyson at second. Edmondson hit a liner to right which Fileshter got in his glove hand after a hard run but was unable to hold and Morpeth went to third. Meader had two strikes on Shaw and curved the third one over but Umpire Macken refused to call it and gave Ben another chance. He hit the next pitch to centre for two bases scoring Morpeth and Edmondson. Gill rolled one down to Getz and "Old Legs" tossed the ball to Harris ahead of runner and it was all over.

Again Beat Zellers

This thing of beating Zellers is getting to be a habit with the Terriers, yesterday's game being the fourth in which they bested him. They started their scoring on him in the very first inning. After Spiers and Callahan had gone out on high fouls Getz hit safely, stole second and scored on Harris' single.

Another run was tallied in the second when Crossin "walked" and scored on Meader's three base drive to right.

Meader's single and Callahan's double scored run No. 3 in the fifth. Harris' triple and Hoffman's single put another across in the sixth, while the fifth run resulted from strikes by Meader and Spiers and a sacrifice fly by Getz in the seventh.

The Game's Features
The chief feature of the game was Johnny Meader's great work. In addition to his airtight pitching he poled out foul hits and scored two runs. He was a big chunk of the picture.

The work of Spiers and Getz around short and second could not have been improved on, they being responsible for two very fast double plays in addition to their stellar individual play. Zerfuh also performed very capably at third.

The funniest play of the game occurred in the third. Joe Harris hit a liner to Zellers, which was going a mile a minute. The pitcher attempted to hop out of the way, but the ball hit him on the foot, caromed off and ran right over into Shaw's waiting paws at first.

Benny Fileshter covered a ten acre field in centre and made a couple of hair-raising catches. Callahan in left also gave Meader excellent support.

Picked Up Along Third Base Line

ON THE OSCEOLA BENCH

It sure was chilly weather they had over on the Osceola bench yesterday along about the eighth inning. The only warning feature was "Fighting Jack's" remarks to his players.

The C. C. A. A. management ignored the protest of the Clearfield Tensorial Artists Protective Association when they signed the hairy, bewhiskered House of David ball club for next Tuesday's game. The House of David is a religious sect which does not believe in cutting either hair or beard, but do believe in athletic sports. The members of this team would not know a pair of shears or a razor if they met them face to face and as a result appear on the ball field with long flowing manes and forelocks. Brother Jedediah, the "short stop", makes use of his "bunch of brush" in a manner which has caused a protest from opposing players in every town they have appeared.

Brother Jedediah, when he sees the ball coming his way, drops his whiskers as a sort of screen and the ball being unable to get through "the brush" Bro. Jed gleefully fishes it out and huris it to first ahead of the runner.

If Jed tries this when Joe Harris is hitting we suggest to Manager Hoffman that he provide the ump with a Pyrene extinguisher to put the fire out in that brush. But don't fail to turn out Tuesday to see Jedediah, Hezekiah, Amaranthus, Maluchia and all the rest. They are not only good to look upon but can play baseball.

We always forgot to mention that the benefit sale put on by Manager Thurston on Booster Day netted the ball club the handsome sum of $107.61.

The Clearfield team goes to Indiana on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Inley have returned to their home on Turnpike avenue after spending the past two weeks with friends and relatives in Bradford.

Dollar Day Crowds Throng The Local Stores Today

Dollar Day dawned bright and sunny in Clearfield this morning and by the time 8 o'clock arrived a line of eager shoppers was converging from every section of town toward the shopping centers on Market, Second and Third streets.

The early shoppers were followed by a steady stream, which appeared to get stronger as the morning advanced and by noon time many local bargain hunters had made two and three trips down town after different merchandise they needed.

Additional help had been provided by many of the merchants and shopping this morning was a pleasure as well as a profit.

The afternoon crowd was much larger than that of the morning and a most satisfactory day was had by all the merchants participating. Many out of town people were in for the afternoon and much merchandise was carried home by the visitors. The day was a huge success in every particular and marked another epoch in Clearfield merchandising.

BOY SCOUTS

THEIR BEST NOW AND ALWAYS

Denn Mann of Cornell says: "When the boys of today shall have become grown men, the time will have arrived when this nation will be feeling acutely the inevitable shortage of timber for our imperative needs, unless in the meantime a new attitude and a new program for the protection of our disappearing timber supply shall have been instituted. The boy scouts of today may well exert their full effort and influence in helping to assure an adequate wood supply against the time when they will man the nation. A first and fundamental step is education—understanding the problem and the way out and helping other persons to understand it. Let the boy scouts use every means toward this end. It is doubly necessary now that we are again at the beginning of the camping season and the dry periods.

"The boy scouts have high ideals for national service. They know how to quicken public thought and action. I hope they will do their best now and always in this matter of forest protection and development, which is so intimately bound up with our future well-being as a nation."

THE BOY SCOUT "ON DUTY"

How the Bright Lads Serve in Directing Convention Visitors and Other-wise Give Aid.

SCOUTS' BIGGEST ENROLLMENT.

June, 1921, showed the biggest enrollment of scouts in the history of the movement, a fact which ought to be a matter of pride and congratulation to all concerned. The more boys that come under the influence of scouting, the healthier, happier, fiercer will the boyhood of America be, the greater the promise of its future. It is not meaningless chance that makes us hear on every side that boy scouts aren't in the police courts, that boy scouts are in the honor rolls of our schools, that boy scouts are performing this or that civic service. Scouting rings true to its aims. It not only claims to fit boys for manhood but, it does it, so why shouldn't we be proud that the Boy Scouts of America numbers an active membership of over 400,000? Why shouldn't we salute and pay all honor to the scoutmaster, the volunteer leader of boyhood under a great banner to a great goal? Why shouldn't we say to them and each other: "Come on, let's make it 500,000 by Christmas?"

RULES FOR BOY SCOUTS.

1. Do not start a forest fire.
2. Tell all your companions about the damage which forest fires do.
3. Report all forest fires to the nearest forest officer.
4. Learn how to fight forest fires, and take a hand in putting them out.
5. Plant forest trees in vacant corners, waste places, abandoned fields, on barren mountain slopes and other uncultivated land.
6. Destroy insects which injure and destroy forest trees.
7. Destroy rots, blights, and other fungous foes of the forest.
8. Help clean up the forest by using the dead wood found lying on the forest floor.
9. Cut out only undesirable trees and guard the more valuable ones.—Boy Scouts' First Book of Forestry—Illick.

SOME BOY SCOUT GOOD TURNS.

St. Louis City boy scouts turned out to the number of 1,000 to make a house-to-house canvass for clothing to aid the stricken people of Armenia. Pittsburgh boys scouts gathered wild flowers all the spring and distributed them, made into attractive bouquets, throughout the hospitals of the city. Tulsa, Okla., carried on a "spring offensive" against the bagworm, and collected nearly a ton of glass, sharp pieces of metal and other debris from roads in the interests of tire safety.
